Biography

ANDI CRIST was raised in Birmingham, Alabama and earned her BFA from Columbia College Chicago in 2011. She is the founder and executive director of Autotelic Studios, a nonprofit arts organization that serves the creative community on the northwest side of Chicago by creating affordable studios in alternative spaces. Crist's practice focuses on sculpture—both social and object-based—which touch on subjects of appropriation, practicality, place-making, and the assessment of value. She has recently exhibited work the Milwaukee Institute of Art & Design, Terrain Exhibitions and the Hyde Park Art Center.
