

COMMUNITY ART DAY: SPINNING

Hands-on activities for all ages, artist demonstrations, and guided tours of the exhibition “TWIST: The Art of Spinning by Hand” in the Kay Gallery

Saturday, November 12 | 10:00 AM - 1:00 PM | Drop-In | FREE

Drop in for a free Community Art Day: Spinning event at BlackRock Center for the Arts featuring hands-on activities, artist demonstrations of how to use spindles and spinning wheels to make yarn and other fiber techniques related to hand spinning, plus guided tours of the exhibit “TWIST: The Art of Spinning by Hand” led by curator Jennifer Lindsay.

“TWIST: The Art of Spinning by Hand” explores the art, craft, science, technology, and community experience of contemporary hand spinning. The exhibit in the Kay Gallery at BlackRock features hand made tools, fiber, art yarns, art, and art-to-wear by sought-after artists and makers and encourages both new and experienced spinners to participate in a collaborative installation, community spinning events, and to explore the Spin Lab.

All ages and ability levels are welcome. No advance registration required.
