

Titration₃: Rock, Paper, Sculpture is a solo exhibition by Joseph Wheelwright, a Boston master carver and sculptor of stones, trees and other natural materials.

Exhibition hours:

Tues. 10am-7pm, Wed.-Fri. 10am-5pm, and Sat. 11am-2pm

Titration₃: Rock, Paper, Sculpture, the third phase of Dublin Arts Council's on-loan outdoor sculpture exhibition series, will be on view on the grounds of Dublin Arts Council, 7125 Riverside Dr., from Oct. 2009 through Sept. 2010.

The exhibition is co-curated by Dublin Arts Council Executive Director David S. Guion, Ph.D., and Jesse Levesque Bishop, a public art curator from Louisville, Ky.

Titration is a common laboratory method used to add a measured quantity of a reagent, called a titrant, into an unknown reagent, called a reactant, to produce a chemical reaction.

The Titration exhibition series reflects the fluid properties of its name in the figurative sense: our changing community, Dublin's growing collection of public art and Dublin's sense of cultural identity.

The community will vote to guide Dublin Arts Council (DAC) in the selection of one or more of the sculptures to acquire as permanent installations in the city. All of the sculptures are available for purchase. Please contact DAC Executive Director David S. Guion, Ph.D., at 614-889-7444 or email guion@dublinarts.org with inquiries.

Dublin Arts Council engages the community, cultivates creativity and fosters life-long learning through the arts.

www.dublinarts.org

dublin  council

7125 riverside drive dublin ohio 43016

dublin  council

2009 - 2010

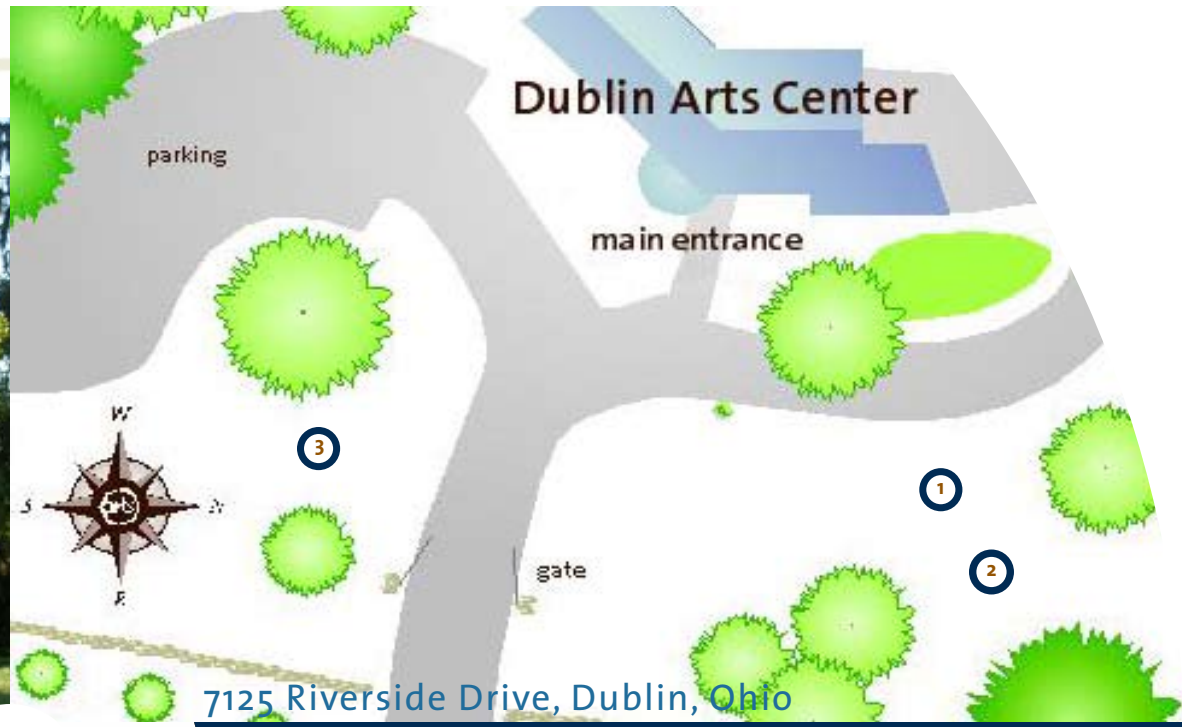

Titration₃:

Rock, Paper, Sculpture

Yellow Birch

(detail)

yellow birch tree
17' x 7' x 5'
2009

7125 Riverside Drive, Dublin, Ohio

Jaunty Hornbeam

(detail)

hornbeam tree, bronze 133" x 73" x 53"
2001

Sanguine Standing Stone

(detail)

quartzite
42-1/2" x 39" x 31"
2002

Titration3: Rock, Paper, Sculpture is supported by:

