The creative, well respected design duo, Glen Peloso and Jamie Alexander, co-founders and principals of Peloso Alexander Interiors, have unveiled the Glen and Jamie Designer Collection with Van Gogh Designs, a Canadian manufacturer of hand crafted upholstery for the home. Manufactured in Vancouver, the line is available at many boutique furniture stores that carry Van Gogh furniture across Canada.

Van Gogh Designs has been a “go to” resource for many years for both Toronto designers Glen Peloso and Jamie Alexander, due to their vast expertise in furniture manufacturing, and the excellent Canadian craftsmanship they provide in each product they produce.

“We have both been working with Van Gogh Designs over the years and had always been impressed that they offer highly customizable pieces,” says Peloso. “We have both been dealing with projects that required us to make a sofa, chair or sectional to solve the space issues. We wanted to create a furniture collection that would work well for people searching for soft seating options in their homes. We selected fabrics and furniture sizes that generally work well in homes and allow designers to increase the size either by the inch in some pieces or by the seat on the sectionals.”

Every item created in the Glen and Jamie Designer Collection has been carefully thought out and developed, initially with their clients in mind. "Each piece in the Glen and Jamie Designer Collection has been built to ensure that the designs adapt for the way we live today as a family and are in line with the current North American design aesthetic," adds Alexander. "We're proud to have these pieces in our clients' homes and are confident they will not only add style to any space but will more importantly provide function."

Each piece of the Glen and Jamie Designer Collection furniture comes with a unique name. "Inspiration for our furniture names comes from the clients we have designed for, family connections and pop culture influences," says Peloso. "Russell was named after a client, Lily is Glen's grandmother's name and in some cases the name is chosen because the piece suits someone, like Rose from The Golden Girls that we grew to love from watching her on TV."

Retail prices for the Glen and Jamie Designer Collection sofas range from $1,800 to $2,200 and chairs range from $1,100-$1,300 retail. CL
