December Summary

December was an interesting month for spending. Because of the two big trips at the end of the month, I tried to limit myself to two hundred Baht a day. In order to do this I tried to eat the free lunch at school everyday and stayed in on most nights up to my vacation. I wanted to make sure I had plenty of spending money for Christmas and New Years. I had also opted to have time off at the end of the month. Because of this, I knew that my check the following month would be smaller and I would need to save a bit, if possible. While in Bangkok for Christmas we ate at an amazing Egyptian restaurant that I would certainly recommend, Nasser Elmassry. If you look closely you will see I did buy a violin while in Bangkok. I have played it for years and desperately wanted one to play while in Thailand, obviously this is an unusual purchase but I decided to include it since it affected my budget to such a degree.
